

First Bank of Highland Park

Where Community is First!

Brushwood Center at Ryerson Woods

In a world where many of us spend a lot of time staring at cell phones or computer screens, First Bank of Highland Park offers an opportunity to reconnect with the transformative power of nature. A stunning exhibition at the bank throughout May will help you become acquainted with Brushwood Center at Ryerson Woods. The Brushwood Center, originally the 1942 estate of the Ryerson family, is nestled deep within 565 acres of pristine woodlands that make up the Ryerson Conservation Area. The Center offers high-quality programming such as workshops and art exhibitions to all ages to promote the importance of nature for nurturing personal and community well being, cultivating creativity, and inspiring learning.
